Zane Bennett Contemporary Art

(Santa Fe, NM) Railyard contemporary art gallery form & concept merges branding and programming into Zane Bennett Contemporary Art with intention to champion unified vision that honors the legacy of both galleries.

Starting February 2026, the decade-long mission of form & concept to exhibit experimental works by artists at all phases in their respective careers will be folded into the programming of Zane Bennett Contemporary Art, which has initiated a deepening of its historical connection to printmaking by launching ZB Editions and partnering with prominent publishing houses across the country such as Gemini GEL, Mixografia, Tamarind Institute, and ULAE. The programming and branding of form & concept is now integrated into Zane Bennett Contemporary Art with the understanding that the distinction between the sister collections is no longer needed. The merging demonstrates a singular focus on what gallerist, Sandy Zane, finds most important, providing a platform for local art communities, creating connections within the broader art market, and fostering relationships with educational and cultural institutions, such as Creative Santa Fe, the Institute of American Indian Arts, Santa Fe International Film Festival, and others.

New and longtime collectors will continue to find art of exceptional depth and value at Zane Bennett Contemporary Art. form & concept collaborators and artists will continue to enjoy the gallery space as a forum for critical discourse and benefit from the resources that come with unifying the galleries under Zane Bennett Contemporary Art. The gallery expresses deep gratitude to its patrons, collectors, collaborators, and artists who helped establish the ethos of form & concept in Santa Fe, NM. The integration of the galleries' brand presence, including websites and social media accounts, is on-going with a date of completion to be determined and announced at a later time. Audiences of both galleries are invited to join Zane Bennett Contemporary Art on its growing and new platforms, Instagram (@zanebennettgallery) and YouTube (@zanebennettcontemporaryart).
